PROGRAM NOTES

Royce Hall Suite

First performed in Royce Hall, the concert auditorium of the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, this composition derives its name therefrom. The composer is on the music faculty of the University of Toronto, at Toronto, Canada. William Teague, well-known arranger, edited and scored the work for concert band.

Adagio

Nowhere is Schumann's romanticism more fully expressed than in the song-like slow movements of his larger works, and in Corwin H. Taylor's setting of this lovely adagio, the constantly-changing texture allows several sections and individuals of the band opportunity to be heard in passages of great beauty.

Overture to "The Impresario"

True to the behaviour one would expect from the overture to a comic opera, this light-hearted piece rolls merrily on its way, with a verve and spirit only Mozart could achieve. Notable in the work is the agility demanded of the bass instruments, which in this transcription by Clifford P. Barnes, gives the tubas, string bass, baritones, and lower reed instruments a position of importance more usually held by the higher voices of the ensemble.

Concerto No. 2

In commemoration of both the 80th anniversary of the birth, and the 10th of the death, of Sergei Rachmaninoff, Carl Fuerstner has chosen to play one of his best-known compositions, the first movement of the second piano concerto.

Mr. Fuerstner, before coming to this country in 1939, was a conductor of the Cologne Opera Company, and since then, has served as director of the Opera Workshop of the Eastman School of Music, and for the past ten summers has appeared regularly on the Brigham Young University Summer Music Festivals. Since 1951 he has made his home in Provo, where he is a full-time member of the music faculty of the University, being also in wide demand throughout the intermountain region as soloist, coach, conductor, and as accompanist to many of the greatest artists of our time.

We are indebted to Captain Francis Resta, Director of Music, United State Military Academy at West Point, for the excellent transcription of the accompaniment which we are using tonight.

Con moto moderato

Scored for most of the woodwinds in the band, this is one of many transcriptions Mr. Laycock has made in an effort to provide wind players the experience and delight of performing fine music to which they might else have little access,—with the hope also of encouraging composers to write serious literature for such groups. This "Minuet and Trio" was first prepared for a Wind Ensemble Concert at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, where Mr. Laycock taught until coming to the Brigham Young campus this fall.

Suite of Old American Dances

Best known for the brilliant musical arranging which has been vital to the success of countless Broadway musicals, Mr. Bennett is represented tonight by a series of capricious and whimsical pieces based on old American dance forms. But there, we must admit, the resemblance ends, for his sparkling wit and instrumentation combine to produce intriguing music that grandfather would never recognize.

Brigham Young University

OPERA WORKSHOP

The rise of the "Opera Workshop" program in the colleges and universities of America during the last decade has been phenomenal. It points up the intense interest in opera that has been lying dormant in the American public. Since there are practically no professional outlets for this desire to "put on an opera," the schools are feeling the pressure to enter this field.

The history of the Opera Workshop at the Brigham Young University might be considered as typical of many situations in America. It was in the school year 1945-46 that a group of students decided to put on a musical production and for their first work they chose The Gypsy Baron by Johann Strauss. This did not satisfy their ambitions so they planned a larger work, La Boheme by Puccini, for their second adventure in the field of opera. This opera was produced in November, 1946, and was so successful that it led to the establishment of the Opera Workshop as a regular part of the academic course work given by the university.

Of the many students who devoted themselves unselfishly to the development of opera at Brigham Young University, all are now busily engaged in other occupations except one. Don L. Earl, the present director and organizer of the class, was one of the original group. He was asked to prepare and conduct the first production when he returned to school after serving as a Naval Aviator in the United States Navy during World War II. He became a faculty member during the summer of 1946, although he produced La Boheme as a student project. For the school year 1947-48 the Opera Workshop was organized with Don L. Earl as its director.

The purpose of the Opera Workshop is to provide operatic experience to the students at Brigham Young University. This not only means giving training in the musical parts, but also training students to handle all technical requirements inherent in operatic productions. In order to give students an understanding of different style of operas, operas from different countries and different times have been used. The operas which have been produced at the university are: Carmen, Faust, The Marriage of Figaro, La Boheme, The Bartered Bride, Cavalleria Rusticana, Pagliacci, The Devil and Daniel Webster, Down in the Valley, The Medium, Abduction from the Seraglio, Gianni Schicchi, Hin und Zuruck, Bastien and Bastienne, The Old Maid and the Thief. The production for March, 1954, is La Traviata by Giuseppe Verdi. In an effort to give more students opportunity for solo roles, the Workshop is now working on one act operas in addition to its regular program. At present the operas The Telephone by Menotti, Sunday Excursion by Alec Wilder, and In a Garden by Kupfermann are being prepared for production. Others will be added as soon as these are finished. All major operatic productions are produced with complete orchestra. Four performances are given of each opera using a double cast arrangement whereby each cast sings on alternate nights. Since there are now so many students desiring this type of training, it is now proposed to use two choruses to alternate so that all may have a chance to appear on stage.

Besides the operatic productions the Opera Workshop does several other things. During the Fall and Spring quarters, the class presents a concert based on excerpts from operas, operetta, musical comedy and other theatrical productions. Many soloists are used in these concerts. Throughout the year several radio and television shows are given as well as providing music for some of the many stake conferences held in and around Provo, Utah. During the Summer quarter, the class produces one major production for the annual Brigham Young University Music Festival. Beginning this year, the Opera Workshop will commence another phase of its work, namely, that of touring. Each fall and spring, the class will make a concert tour in order to provide music basically operatic to the general public.

The present Opera Workshop consists of seventy-nine members. These members come from fifteen different states in the United States and from two other countries (Hawaii and Canada). Admission to the class is given only after each student undergoes a special audition to determine whether he or she possesses the necessary vocal and dramatic ability to do the work planned for the class.

While the opera work at the university is still young in years, it still can boast of several students who are now participating in professional opera and who are slowly making a name for themselves. Walter Richardson, who started at the Brigham Young University, is now singing lead tenor roles in the Portland Opera Company in Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Carolyn Welling and Mr. Harold Brereton of Salt Lake City have sung lead roles with the Utah Opera Theatre and the Utah State Symphony. Other former students have been and are now singing with community opera groups around the country.

During the years 1949-52, Dr. Earl was on leave of absence from the university in order to work on his doctorate at Indiana University. He received this degree in September, 1952, and then returned to direct the Opera Workshop. While he was away the work at the university was admirably advanced through the sincere and effective work of Newell B. Weight, who is also the director of the outstanding A Cappella Choir at the university.

It is a policy at the university to bring in guest conductors for the summer operas. These men have added greatly to the history of successful performances and have been a great source of inspiration to all members of the class. Carlos Alexander, who at present is the director of the Utah Opera Theatre, directed the operas in the summers of 1947 and 1948. Willard Rhodes, director of the Opera Workshop at Columbia University in New York City, prepared the productions in the summers of 1949 and 1950, while John Daggett Howells of Chicago conducted the operas in the summer of 1951.

While pointing with pride to some of the men who have made possible the work of the Opera Workshop, special mention must be made of the invaluable contributions of Lawrence Sardoni, director of the Brigham Young University Symphony Orchestra, who has always found the time in his busy orchestral schedule to have the orchestra join forces with the Workshop. Their superb accompaniment has always been an outstanding feature of the operas and they have been a great source of inspiration to the singers and dancers. Further mention must be made of the great encouragement and help received from Gerrit de Jong, Dean of the College of Fine Arts and Dr. John R. Halliday, Chairman of the Music Department. It has always been a source of great satisfaction to all concerned that the entire Music Department has participated willingly and capably in any need. However, the Music Department itself could not possibly do all the work of producing the opera. Other departments of the university which are called in to assist and which have always been a vital part of the successful productions are the departments of Speech and Dramatic Arts, Physical Education (Dance), Photo, Publicity, and Buildings and Grounds. Without them the history could not have been written.

THE PROPHECY

NO. 1 — OVERTURE

NO. 2 — RECIT.

Comfort ye, comfort ye, My people, saith your God; speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem; and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned.

The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness; Prepare ye the way of the Lord; make straight in the desert a highway for our God.

NO. 3 — ARIA

Every valley shall be exalted and every mountain and hill made low, the crooked straight and the rough places plain.

NO. 4 — CHORUS

And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together; for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

NO. 5 — RECIT.

Thus saith the Lord of Hosts: Yet once a little while and I will shake the heavens and the earth, the sea and the dry land; and I will shake all nations; and the desire of all nations shall come.

The Lord whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in; behold He shall come, said the Lord of Hosts.

NO. 6 — ARIA

But who may abide the day of His coming and who shall stand when He appeareth for He is like a refiner's fire.

NO. 7 — RECIT.

Behold! a Virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call His name Emmanuel, God with us.

NO. 8 — ARIA

O thou that tellest good tidings of Zion, get thee up into the high mountains: Oh Thou that tellest good tidings to Jerusalem, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!

Arise, shine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.

NO. 9 — RECIT.

For behold darkness shall cover the earth and gross darkness the people, but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and His Glory shall be seen upon thee, and the Gentiles shall come to thy light and kings to the brightness of thy rising.

NO. 10 — ARIA

The people that walked in darkness hath seen a great light, and they that dwell in the land of the Shadow of Death, upon them has the light shined.

NO. 11 — CHORUS

For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given, and the government shall be upon His shoulders; and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God. The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

THE FULFILMENT

NO. 12 — PASTORAL SYMPHONY

NO. 13 — RECIT.

There were shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them, and they were sore afraid.

NO. 14 — RECIT.

And the Angel said unto them, Fear not; for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which will be to all people; for unto you is born this day in the City of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

NO. 15 — RECIT.

And suddenly there was with the Angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying:

NO. 16 — CHORUS

Glory to God in the highest, and peace on earth, good will toward men.

NO. 17 — ARIA

Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem! Behold, thy King cometh unto thee!

He is the righteous Savior, and He shall speak peace unto the heathen.

NO. 18 — RECIT.

Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, and the ears of the deaf unstopped; then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb shall sing.

NO. 19 — ARIA

He shall feed His flock like a shepherd; and He shall gather the lambs with His arm, and carry them in His bosom, and gently lead those that are with young.

NO. 20 — ARIA

Come unto Him, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and He will give you rest. Take His yoke upon you, and learn of Him, for He is meek and lowly of heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls.

NO. 21 — CHORUS

His yoke is easy, His burden is light.

THE PASSION

No. 22 — CHORUS

Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.

NO. 23 — ARIA

He was despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrow, and acquainted with grief.

NO. 24 — CHORUS

Surely, He hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows. He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities, the chastisement of our peace was upon him.

NO. 25 — CHORUS

All we like sheep have gone astray: we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all.

NO. 26 — RECIT.

Thy rebuke hath broken His heart; He is full of heaviness. He looked for some to have pity on Him, but there was no man, neither found He any to comfort Him.

NO. 27 — ARIA

Behold, and see if there be any sorrow like unto His sorrow.

THE GLORIFICATION

NO. 28 — ARIA

How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things.

NO. 29 — ARIA

Why do the nations so furiously rage together and why do the people imagine a vain thing?

The kings of the earth rise up, and the rulers take counsel together against the Lord, and against His anointed.

NO. 30 — CHORUS

Hallelujah: For the Lord God omnipotent reigneth.

The kingdom of this world is become the kingdom of our Lord, and of His Christ; and He shall reign for ever and ever.

King of Kings, and Lord of Lords.

Hallelujah!

THE RESURRECTION

NO. 31 — ARIA

I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth; and though worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God.

For now is Christ risen from the dead, the first fruits of them that sleep.

NO. 32 — RECIT.

Behold, I tell you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet.

NO. 33 — ARIA

The trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

NO. 34 — CHORUS

Worthy is the Lamb that was slain, and hath redeemed us to God by His blood, to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and blessing.

Blessing and honor, glory and power, be unto Him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb, for ever and ever.
AMEN.

THE OPERA WORKSHOP

THE STORY OF THE OPERA

The scene is Paris in the 1800's. A gay party is in progress at the home of Violetta Varley, a frail young courtesan. One of the guests at the party this particular night is Alfredo Germont, a young man who has loved Violetta from afar for some time.

Alfredo declares his love for Violetta and she hesitatingly accepts it and finally consents to leave her present life and live quietly with him in the country.

In the second act, Violetta and Alfredo have taken up their residence in a country home on the outskirts of Paris and are blissfully happy together. Alfredo learns from Violetta's maid that Violetta has sold everything she owned to maintain their present establishment and leaves to go to Paris to recover it. In his absence, his father visits Violetta and persuades her to give Alfredo up for the sake of his family. When Alfredo returns, his father is waiting for him and Violetta is gone.

Thinking she has left him for one of her former admirers, Alfredo hurries back to Paris and finds Violetta at a party given by her friend, Flora. Now firmly convinced that Violetta no longer loves him, Alfredo begins recklessly gambling and finally throws his winnings at Violetta's feet, crying that the score between them is now settled. As Violetta swoons, Alfredo is admonished by his father and Violetta's friends for his ungentlemanly conduct.

The final act takes place in a tiny attic bedroom where Violetta and her maid have come with their few shabby possessions. Violetta knows she is dying, despite her doctor's assurances that all is well.

Alfredo, who has learned from his father of Violetta's sacrifice, rushes in to find her in the last stages of consumption. As he declares his undying love for her, Violetta dies happily in the arms of her sweetheart.

PROGRAM NOTES

SCHUBERT'S 5TH SYMPHONY IN Bb MAJOR is a chamber symphony in the true sense of the word. Written to be performed in a small hall at a private mansion in 1816 the score of the then 19 year old Schubert employs no trumpets or tympani, only one flute and no clarinets, thereby reaching back to Mozart and Haydn. The work has a joyous character throughout, with its animated 1st movement, the songful expressiveness of the Andante, the dynamic G minor Menuet with its melodious Trio, and the spirited cheerful Finale.

BRITTEN'S SERENADE, played here as a probable first performance for the Intermountain West, was written as a show piece for the tenor Peter Pears, creator of many of the composers operatic roles, and the world famous horn player Dennis Brain. It is a suite of 6 poems by various celebrated authors, including an anonymous 15th century one, with a prologue and an epilogue played by the horn. The work has served more than anything to make the composer's name known to the world outside England. The strange combination of the two solo voices and the cleverly written accompaniment by the strings creates an extraordinary atmosphere and a rare mood which never fails to impress audiences deeply.

BENJAMIN BRITTEN SERENADE

for Tenor Solo, Horn and String, Op. 31

I Prologue (Horn in F)

II Pastoral (Voice) (Cotton)

The Day's grown old, the fainting Sun has but a little way to run,
And yet his steers with all his skill scarce lug the Chariot down the hill.
The shadows now so long do glow that brambles like tall cedars show;
Molehills seem mountains, and the ant appears a monstrous Elephant.
A very little, little flock shades thrice the ground it would stock;
Whilst the small stripling following them appears a mighty Polyphem.
And now on benches all are sat in the cool air to sit and chat
Till Phoebus, dipping in the West shall lead the world the way to rest.

III Nocturne (Tennyson)

The splendor falls on castle walls and snowy summits old in story;
The long light shakes across the lakes, and the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying, blow bugle, answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.
O hark, O hear! how thin and clear, and thinner, clearer, farther going.
O sweet and far from cliff to scar the horns of Elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying: Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.
O love, they die in yon rich sky, they faint on hill or field or river;
Our echoes roll from soul to soul and grow for ever and for ever.
Blow, bugle, blow set wild echoes flying, and answer, echoes, answer, dying, dying, dying.

IV Elegy (Blake)

O Rose, thou art sick; the invisible worm
That flies in the night in the howling storms,
Has found out thy bed of crimson joy.
And his dark, secret love does thy life destroy.

V Dirge (Anonymous, 15th century)

This ae nighte, this ae nighte, every nighte and alle
Fire and fleet and candle-light and Christe receive thy saule.
When thou from hence away art past, Every nighte and alle,
To Whinny-muir thou com'st at last; and Christe receive thy saule.
If ever thou gavest hosen and shoon, every nighte and alle,
Sit thee down and put them on; and Christe receive thy saule.
If hosen and shoon thou ne'er gav'st nane, every nighte and alle,
The whinnes sall prick thee to the bare bane; and Christe receive thy saule.
From Whinny-muir when thou may'st pass, every nighte and alle,
To bring o'Dread thou com'st at last; and Christe receive thy saule.
From Brig o'Dread when thou may'st pass every nighte and alle,
To Purgatory fire thou com'st at last, and Christe receive thy saule.
If ever thou gavest meat or drink, every nighte and alle,
The fire shall never make thee shrink and Christe receive thy saule.
If meat or drink thou never gav'st nane, every nighte and alle,
The fire will burn thee to the bare bone; and Christe receive thy saule.
This ae nighte, this ae nighte, every nighte and alle,
Fire and fleet and candle-lighte, and Christe receive thy saule.

VI Hymn (Ben Johnson)

Queen and huntress, chaste and fair, now the sun is laid to sleep,
Seated in thy silver chair, state in wonted manner keep:
Hesperus entreats thy light, Goddess excellently bright.
Earth, let not thy envious shade dare itself to interpose;
Cynthia's shining orb was made Heaven to clear when day did close:
Bless us then with wished sight, Goddess excellently bright.
Lay thy bow of pearl apart, and thy chrystal-shining quiver;
Give unto the flying heart space to breathe, how short so ever;
Thou that mak'st a day of night—Goddess excellently bright.

CHAMBER ORCHESTRA PERSONNEL

VII Sonnet (Keats)

O soft embalmer of the still midnight! shutting with careful fingers and benign
Our gloom-pleased eyes, embower'd from the light, enshaded in forgetfulness divine.
O soothest Sleep! if so it please thee, close, in midst of this thine hymn, my willing eyes,
Or wait the "amen," ere thy poppy throws around my bed its lulling charities.
Then save me, or the passing day will shine upon my pillow, breeding many woes;
Save me from curious conscience, that still lords
Its strength for darkness, burrowing like a mole; turn the key deftly in the oiled wards,
And seal the hushed casket of my soul.

VIII Epilogue (off stage)

The so called POSTHORN SERENADE in D major of Mozart (another Intermountain premiere) is a forerunner to the much later Prague Symphony, although it still shows much fewer contrapuntal features. The first and last movements are in symphonic style. In between there are 2 minuets (plus trios) one of which is omitted in today's performance. There are two so called "concertante" movements in G major and in the middle stands the slow Andantino in D minor. The First movement, after a slow introduction, seems to portray humorously the struggle Mozart had at the time with his patron Archbishop Colloredo, by exaggerated dynamic contrasts and the then fashionable so-called "Mannheim crescendo" rarely found in Mozart. The concertante movements give the flutes and oboes a chance for solo display including cadenzas, while the Trios of the Menuet feature a solo for the piccolo and one for the "Posthorn," symbol of travel in the 18th century Europe, and expressing Mozart's longing to leave Salzburg and the hated Archbishop. The D minor Andantino is particularly touching while the Presto Finale sends the listener off in a mood of exuberant exhilaration.

OPERA WORKSHOP

The rise of the "Opera Workshop" program in the colleges and universities of America during the last decade has been phenomenal. It points up the intense interest in opera that has been lying dormant in the American public. Since there are practically no professional outlets for this desire to "put on an opera," the schools are feeling the pressure to enter this field.

The history of the Opera Workshop at the Brigham Young University might be considered as typical of many situations in America. It was in the school year 1945-46 that a group of students decided to put on a musical production and for their first work they chose The Gypsy Baron by Johann Strauss. This did not satisfy their ambitions so they planned a larger work, La Boheme by Puccini, for their second adventure in the field of opera. This opera was produced in November, 1946, and was so successful that it led to the establishment of the Opera Workshop as a regular part of the academic course work given by the university.

Of the many students who devoted themselves unselfishly to the development of opera at Brigham Young University, all are now busily engaged in other occupations except one. Don L. Earl, the present director and organizer of the class, was one of the original group. He was asked to prepare and conduct the first production when he returned to school after serving as a Naval Aviator in the United States Navy during World War II. He became a faculty member during the summer of 1946, although he produced La Boheme as a student project. For the school year 1947-48 the Opera Workshop was organized with Don L. Earl as its director.

The purpose of the Opera Workshop is to provide operatic experience to the students at Brigham Young University. This not only means giving training in the musical parts, but also training students to handle all technical requirements inherent in operatic productions. In order to give students an understanding of different style of operas, operas from different countries and different times have been used. The operas which have been produced at the university are: Carmen, Faust, The Marriage of Figaro, La Boheme, The Bartered Bride, Cavalleria Rusticana, Pagliacci, The Devil and Daniel Webster, Down in the Valley, The Medium, Abduction from the Seraglio, Gianni Schicchi, Hin und Zuruck, Bastien and Bastienne, The Old Maid and the Thief. The production for March, 1954, is La Traviata by Giuseppe Verdi. In an effort to give more students opportunity for solo roles, the Workshop is now working on one act operas in addition to its regular program. At present the operas The Telephone by Menotti, Sunday Excursion by Alec Wilder, and In a Garden by Kupfermann are being prepared for production. Others will be added as soon as these are finished. All major operatic productions are produced with complete orchestra. Four performances are given of each opera using a double cast arrangement whereby each cast sings on alternate nights. Since there are now so many students desiring this type of training, it is now proposed to use two choruses to alternate so that all may have a chance to appear on stage.

Besides the operatic productions the Opera Workshop does several other things. During the Fall and Spring quarters, the class presents a concert based on excerpts from operas, operetta, musical comedy and other theatrical productions. Many soloists are used in these concerts. Throughout the year several radio and television shows are given as well as providing music for some of the many stake conferences held in and around Provo, Utah. During the Summer quarter, the class produces one major production for the annual Brigham Young University Music Festival. Beginning this year, the Opera Workshop will commence another phase of its work, namely, that of touring. Each fall and spring, the class will make a concert tour in order to provide music basically operatic to the general public.

The present Opera Workshop consists of seventy-nine members. These members come from fifteen different states in the United States and from two other countries (Hawaii and Canada). Admission to the class is given only after each student undergoes a special audition to determine whether he or she possesses the necessary vocal and dramatic ability to do the work planned for the class.

While the opera work at the university is still young in years, it still can boast of several students who are now participating in professional opera and who are slowly making a name for themselves. Walter Richardson, who started at the Brigham Young University, is now singing lead tenor roles in the Portland Opera Company in Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Carolyn Welling and Mr. Harold Brereton of Salt Lake City have sung lead roles with the Utah Opera Theatre and the Utah State Symphony. Other former students have been and are now singing with community opera groups around the country.

During the years 1949-52, Dr. Earl was on leave of absence from the university in order to work on his doctorate at Indiana University. He received this degree in September, 1952, and then returned to direct the Opera Workshop. While he was away the work at the university was admirably advanced through the sincere and effective work of Newell B. Weight, who is also the director of the outstanding A Cappella Choir at the university.

It is a policy at the university to bring in guest conductors for the summer operas. These men have added greatly to the history of successful performances and have been a great source of inspiration to all members of the class. Carlos Alexander, who at present is the director of the Utah Opera Theatre, directed the operas in the summers of 1947 and 1948. Willard Rhodes, director of the Opera Workshop at Columbia University in New York City, prepared the productions in the summers of 1949 and 1950, while John Daggett Howells of Chicago conducted the operas in the summer of 1951.

While pointing with pride to some of the men who have made possible the work of the Opera Workshop, special mention must be made of the invaluable contributions of Lawrence Sardoni, director of the Brigham Young University Symphony Orchestra, who has always found the time in his busy orchestral schedule to have the orchestra join forces with the Workshop. Their superb accompaniment has always been an outstanding feature of the operas and they have been a great source of inspiration to the singers and dancers. Further mention must be made of the great encouragement and help received from Gerrit de Jong, Dean of the College of Fine Arts and Dr. John R. Halliday, Chairman of the Music Department. It has always been a source of great satisfaction to all concerned that the entire Music Department has participated willingly and capably in any need. However, the Music Department itself could not possibly do all the work of producing the opera. Other departments of the university which are called in to assist and which have always been a vital part of the successful productions are the departments of Speech and Dramatic Arts, Physical Education (Dance), Photo, Publicity, and Buildings and Grounds. Without them the history could not have been written.

LOOK FOR THESE TOURING MUSICAL GROUPS FROM BYU

CONCERT BAND

Brigham Young University, originally Brigham Young Academy, was founded to teach not only the learning of men, but also the revealed word of God—therefore, the sum total of human knowledge rather than the limited knowledge of secular education, which often leads to disbelief in God.

This was the educational philosophy of Brigham Young, Mormon leader and colonizer, who in 1875 founded the University for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. It is under the same philosophy that Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson operates the University today.

From a humble beginning of 29 students, one teacher and one classroom, Brigham Young University has grown, in its 78 years of existence, to one of the large universities of the West. And just recently the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints designated BYU as the "mother school" of the far-flung LDS educational system. Dr. Wilkinson was at that time appointed Administrator of the entire Church educational program.

While most schools across the country are now showing slight increases in enrollment after the influx of veterans subsided, Brigham Young has had healthy increases each year. Cumulative enrollment for 1952 was 7469.

The rapid growth of BYU has turned the 200-acre hill-top campus into a bee-hive of activity as millions of dollars are being spent to construct new buildings and facilities to accommodate the ever increasing studentbody. The curriculum is growing also. Recently added to the 40 departments of instruction have been the School of Nursing and the Department of Engineering Science. Dr. Wilkinson's faculty now totals over 350.

Brigham Young's large metropolitan studentbody, which represents 47 states and many foreign countries, is active and friendly. Even today students and faculty meet together twice each week in assemblies honoring a tradition of Dr. Karl G. Maeser, early president of the school.

In athletics, Brigham Young is probably best known for its prowess on the basketball floor and especially for its NIT Championship at Madison Square Garden in 1951. However, the school, a member of the Skyline Conference, participates in all varsity sports.

PROGRAM

PART I

Sh'ma Yisroel (from the Synagogue Service) arr. A. W. Binder
Called the watchword of Israel.

"Hear O Israel! The Lord our God—the Lord is One!
Praised be His Name whose kingdom is forever and ever."

V'shomru (based on an ancient Hebrew Folk melody)
..... arr. A. W. Binder

The arranger has caught the spirit of the ancient synagogue service of Solomon's time. This V'shomru dates back almost three thousand years.

"The children of Israel shall remember the Sabbath
And keep it Holy!"

Tenebrae Factai Sunt Palestrina
(1526-1594)

Dusk is falling as the Jews crucified Jesus. About the ninth hour, Jesus exclaimed in a loud voice: "My God, why hast Thou forsaken me? Command my spirit into thy hands." And bowing His head, he died.

An Heart That's Broken and Contrite John Dowland
(1562-1626)

An heart that's broken and contrite,
To God is a sweet, sweet sacrifice;
Repentant sinners Him delight,
Far more than just men in their sight.

O Come, Holy Spirit J. S. Bach
(1685-1750)

O thou consoling fire, gift divine,
Our joyful hearts with strength incline
to serve Thee ever with steadfast love,
That earthly sorrow cannot move.
O Lord, now let Thy might prevail
To gird with strength our weakness frail,
That we may conquer through Thee alone,
By life and death brought to Thy high throne.
Hallelujah.

PART II

A Tribute to F. Melius Christiansen

Glorification (from "Celestial Spring") F. M. Christiansen

Hosanna, a new Hosanna within is ringing,
New glory bringing to God on high.
Who has exalted this lowly mortal to heaven's portal beyond the sky.
Hosanna, a new Hosanna all life embraces,
While growing praises to God arise;
And soon my spirit shall sing victorious,
With Him, the glorious, in paradise.
Let there be light! And there was light.
A new Hosanna now is ringing,
And my heart is singing now: Let there be light,
And there was light.

Love In Grief (from "Grief of Glory") F. M. Christiansen

O love so brief, so brief appearing Within a summer day as rapture in a temple whose colonades are clay.
O love and loved in sorrow
Lie fallow and forlorn
While God prepares the morrow,
The endless wedding morn.
O love so brief appearing
Within a summer day,
O love so brief.

Psalm 50 F. M. Christiansen

- I. The mighty God, the Lord hath spoken,
And called the earth from the rising of the sun
 unto the going down thereof.
Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty,
God hath shined forth.
Our God shall come and shall not keep silence.
A fire shall devour before him and it shall be very tempestuous round about him.
He shall call to the heavens from above
And to the earth that he may judge his people.
And the heavens shall declare his righteousness
For God is judge himself.
- II. Offer unto God the sacrifice of thanksgiving
And pay the vows unto the Lord.
And call upon me in the day of thy trouble,
I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me.
- III. Whoso offereth praise, glorifieth God.
And called the earth from the rising of the sun.
Praise God from whom all blessings flow!
Praise Him all creatures here below!
Praise Him above, ye heav'nly host!
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost!
Whoso offereth praise glorifieth God.

PART III

Vision of Peace Jean Berger

Let all the nations be gathered together,
And let the peoples be assembled!
Come near, ye nations, to hear;
Assemble yourselves and come,
And hearken, all peoples!
Cry aloud, lift up your voice like a trumpet.
Give ear, all ye lands afar off,
Let the earth hear, and the world: Peace! Peace!
Peace to him that is far off,
And Peace to him that is near!
Violence shall no more be heard in the land,
Wasting nor destruction within the borders;
The land that was desolation and the dry land shall be glad;
The desert shall rejoice and blossom as a rose.
Peace.

—From Isaiah.

Holy Radiant Light Alexander Gretchaninoff

Holy radiant Light, Thou holy radiance of the Father, Glorious and mighty, Thou only begotten Son of God eternal, holy Jesu.
Come we, now, to the hour of setting sun; The lights of evening round us shine;
Oh holy One, holy Son of God eternal. Evermore we sing Thy praise,
Holy Son of God.
With undefiled lips, evermore Thy glory to be praised art thou worthy to be praised evermore.
Holy Son of God, source of every life, Now all the world doth praise Thee, Evermore praise Thee, Thou Son of God! Holy radiant Light.

Come, Come Ye Saints Wm. Clayton arr. by Crawford Gates

Come, come ye Saints, no toil nor labor fear; But with joy wend your way.
Though hard to you this journey may appear, Grace shall be as your day.
'Tis better far for us to strive Our useless cares from us to drive;
Do this, and joy your hearts will swell . . . All is well! All is well!
Why should we mourn or think our lot is hard? 'Tis not so; all is right.
Why should we think to earn a great reward. If we now shun the fight?
Gird up your loins; fresh courage take; Our God will never us forsake;
And soon we'll have this tale to tell . . . All is well! All is well!
We'll find the place which God for us prepared, Far away in the West,
Where non shall come to hurt or make afraid;
There the Saints will be blessed.
We'll make the air with music ring, Shout praises to our God and king;
Above the rest these words we'll tell . . . All is well! All is well!
And should we die before our journey's through, Happy day! all is well!
We then are free from toil and sorrow, too; With the just we shall dwell!
But if our lives are spared again To see the Saints their rest obtain,
O how we'll make this chorus swell . . . All is well! All is well!

I Know That My Redeemer Lives L. D. Edwards arr. by N. B. Weight

Soloists, LaRae Dunn, Maurine Benson

I know that my Redeemer lives, What comfort this sweet sentence gives!
He lives, He lives who once was dead. He lives my ever living head.
He lives to bless me with His love. He lives to plead for me above.
He lives my hungry soul to feed. He lives to bless in time of need
He lives to grant me rich supply. He lives to guide me with His eye.
He lives to comfort me when faint. He lives to hear my soul's complaint.
He lives to silence all my fears. He lives to wipe away my tears.
He lives to calm my troubled heart. He lives, all blessings to impart.
He lives, all glory to His name! He lives, my Savior, still the same;
O sweet the joy this sentence gives: "I know that my Redeemer lives!"

ABOUT THE CHOIR

The Brigham Young University A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Professor Newell B. Weight, its founder, is now in the fifth year of its organization. Besides having made several successful tours throughout Utah, the choir toured Northern California and Nevada in 1951, Southern California and Nevada in 1952, and Utah and Arizona in 1953. In May, 1953 the choir participated in the dedication services of the Mormon Pioneer Memorial Bridge which spans the Missouri river near Omaha, Nebraska. An annual event of the choir is to sing in the April General Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Salt Lake City. The A Cappella Choir has had a number of radio and television performances and has made a recording for a large commercial company which has brought it before thousands of listeners.

The objectives of the choir are to stimulate and promote the development and appreciation of the art of unaccompanied singing; to explore the field of unaccompanied choral literature; and above all, to provide an opportunity for its members to experience a valuable personal development through fine choral singing.

DR. JOHN R. HALLIDAY

Director

Dr. John R. Halliday, chairman of the department of music at Brigham Young University since 1948, has had a long and distinguished career in the field of music.

After serving a mission in Germany for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, he studied choral conducting at the State Academy of Music in Berlin (1933-34). He returned to Brigham Young University to teach and to complete his A. B. and M. A. degrees by 1936. He served as assistant conductor of the Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir in 1937. The following year he enrolled at Eastman School of Music, where he taught and studied until 1941, when he received the first Ph. D. degree in Music Theory given in America. From 1943 to 1951 he was director of bands at Brigham Young University. He served as Acting Dean of the College of Fine Arts during 1947-48.

In 1951, on sabbatical leave from the University, he studied in Paris, France, and Rome, Italy. Upon his return to the campus he reorganized the Madrigal Singers. During the past two years the group has been widely acclaimed throughout many parts of the United States and Canada, where they traveled 10,000 miles in the last two seasons.
